Risk Warning: Past performance is not indicative of future results. Our investment management services relate to a variety of investments, each of which can fluctuate in value. The value of portfolios we manage may fall as well as rise, and the investor may not get back the full amount originally invested. The investment risks vary between different types of instruments. For example, for investments involving exposure to a currency other than that in which the portfolio is denominated, changes in the rate of exchange may cause the value of investments, and consequently the value of the portfolio, to go up or down. In the case of a higher volatility portfolio the loss on realization or cancellation may be very high (including total loss of investment), as the value of such an investment may fall suddenly and substantially. In making an investment decision, prospective investors must rely on their own examination of the merits and risks involved. Disclaimer: Unless otherwise noted, all information contained herein is sourced from BPI AIA* internal data. ### Market Commentary

Asian equities ended the month in the green. AI-related names led the charge along with the recovery in China and the Value Up program in Korea. Taiwan and Korea appreciated the most, while the bottom-performing markets were Hong Kong and the Philippines. Taiwan's gains were led by investor buying large caps stocks along with AI-related names. Korea was among the top-performing markets as industrial production prints strongly rebounded, above expectations. AI related names in Korea also benefited from the general AI trend. Hong Kong was affected by earnings downgrades and a fall in export numbers. The Philippines fell due to outflows in the consumer staples sector and continued to face higher-than-expected inflation.
