Risk Warning: Past performance is not indicative of future results. Our investment management services relate to a variety of investments, each of which can fluctuate in value. The value of portfolios we manage may fall as well as rise, and the investor may not get back the full amount originally invested. The investment risks vary between different types of instruments. For example, for investments involving exposure to a currency other than that in which the portfolio is denominated, changes in the rate of exchange may cause the value of investments, and consequently the value of the portfolio, to go up or down. In the case of a higher volatility portfolio the loss on realization or cancellation may be very high (including total loss of investment), as the value of such an investment may fall suddenly and substantially. In making an investment decision, prospective investors must rely on their own examination of the merits and risks involved. Disclaimer: Unless otherwise noted, all information contained herein is sourced from BPI AIA* internal data. Market Commentary

Asian equities ended the month mostly in the green. Improved macro-economic data in China, continued demand for AI, and the Indian elections partly drove the markets. Taiwan and Hong Kong appreciated the most, while the bottom performing markets were Indonesia and Philippines. Taiwan benefitted from continued demand for AI globally along with better-than-expected results in the financials sector. Hong Kong gained, though finished the month off the mid-month highs due to profit taking. Weak macro economic data along with a surprise rate hike in Indonesia trickled down to equity markets as investors sold off. The Philippines lagged as investors remained concerned over sticky inflation, uncertainty around US Fed rate cuts and the weakness of the Philippine Peso against the USD.
